TO WILL

We are all creatures of free Will. Destiny is also shaped by our will—whether conscious or subconscious. The Truth is that everything that is there in our life has been called upon ourselves by our own self.

For centuries people have believed in the existence of a supernatural power that commands the world. Yet, it is simply an illusion that there is someone else out there who is shaping our life.

Finally some of us have begun to understand that there is no-one else. The only truth is within us. We are all having the divine spark and it can become more and more potent and magnificent through our own spiritual awakening. When a person begins to realize that he or she is indeed the One and everything that exists has been manifested out of his or her own desires, knowingly or unknowingly, then the person begins to make conscious decisions of what to manifest. We are all witches and wizards—we either know it or don't. And when we do, we begin to create out of our Will. After all magick is all about making things happen as per Will.

Often we are afraid of our own desires. We start feeling what if our will is not right—what if we do will for something wrong. The truth is there is always the higher self within us that guides us towards willing for only that which is good for all concerned and harms none. If we ever will for something that is not right for us or others, the higher self will intervene and balance things out. We all learn our lessons with time—we all learn to be balanced and loving individuals, sometimes easily and sometimes with difficulty.

To make it easier for ourselves, whenever we perform any spell to make real what we Will, it is good to align our will with the highest good by saying— "With harm to none and for the best of all concerned, Aa I Will so be it.!" Most of all we need to constantly work on our spiritual mastery to enhance our willpower and align it with the rest of nature and the highest self.

Blessed Be (*)

MEDITATION WITH THE ACE OF WANDS CARD

This meditation is more of a spell that you perform to achieve success in an important goal that you are vying for.

For this meditation light a red colored candle. Red is the color of the element of fire. It represents that which you truly desire to achieve and that which you are very passionate about in life. Know that it is alright for you to feel passionate about this goal as long as it will not cause any harm to anyone including yourself.

Also think of you goal and place the Ace of Wands card on the table or altar that you set up near the candle. Use appropriate altar cloth on the table and find a time and place that is convenient for this.

If you have performed some sort of divination to ascertain that it is a good goal to pursue then you can go after it with full zeal and enthusiasm. As you light the red candle focus on the light of your ambition and desires coming out into manifestation.

Spend some time looking at the Ace of Wands card from a deck of your choice. Observe the card to help yourself open up to the possibility that your true will is empowered by your inner light and the energy that you are raising at its peak. Whenever you feel the time is right say the words of power—, “I call upon my inner light to be my inspiration and strength. I wish to illuminate my path towards the goal that I have chosen. My wish is strong and potent and whatever I desire is definitely manifesting. With harm to none and for the best of all concerned, so mote it be.”

As the candle burns your wish is ignited towards manifestation. Just let the candle burn fully and do not worry about how and when the wish will manifest. Just leave it to the universe. So be it.

Blessed Be
